

Thank Your Mom!

There's no time quite like Mother's Day to thank those special women in your life: your mom, your wife, your mother-in-law. Moms tackle life in a way no one else in the world can. Somehow, they make almost everything better with a hug, a kiss, and a sweep of their magical Mom powers. Take some time out of your busy Sunday to thank those special women in your life for everything they've done this year.

Keep that Mother's Day Jewelry Safe!

If you bought a gorgeous necklace this year for that special someone or you got one from those in your life, it's time to keep it safe. These tips can help.

- Know What You Have: It's easy to lose track of the jewelry pieces you might have laying around, but should something actually happen, having an easy inventory on hand is an absolute must. Whether you digitally archive your inventory or keep it in a safe deposit box, hang on to it.
- Use Safe Home Practices: Simple steps like making sure you have good locks on doors and windows is a step in the right direction. A home alarm system can help, too. While you don't have invest in a jewelry safe, it might be a great way to ensure that even if thieves do break in, they won't be able to get your jewelry.
- Make Sure It's Properly Insured: When you have great jewelry, you want to make sure it's safe, but things do happen. Good insurance can help replace those pieces, even if they're damaged or stolen. Contact us today to learn more about the jewelry insurance plans we offer.

Insurance Products No Family Should Be Without

Your family is one of the most beautiful things in the world. Protect them with the right insurance choices. If you haven't yet looked into life insurance, it's certainly time. Life insurance can help protect your spouse and your children in the event something should happen to you. Amounts and types vary, but if you have kids you want to protect, life insurance is a product you can't be left without.

Similarly, disability insurance is becoming increasingly important. If you were seriously injured in an accident and couldn't work, what might happen to your family? How would you survive from day to day? Disability insurance can help to protect you should that event ever occur.

You may also want to consider health insurance, dental insurance, and vision coverage for your entire family. Contact us today to learn more.

 is here to help you make certain all of your insurance needs are covered. We even offer great business services including websites, social media management, business printing and more. Learn more when you contact us today.